CAREER COUNSELLING

There is no dearth of career choices. Gone are the days when we used to think of just few courses that every second or third student of our batch was opting for. Thanks to factors like internet, economic expansion, liberalization, technical and communication revolution and rising purchasing power of middle class people, more and more new avenues are opening up. Some of these new career choices did not even exist few years back. Students are vying for new courses because of obvious benefits; less competition and a head start over potential competitors. New generation is also willing to follow its passion and not just tread down the beaten track. They say, if you truly love our job, money and success will automatically follow. So, it's always suggested to go for what your heart and mind desires instead of falling prey to the herd mentality.

WHAT IS CAREER COUNSELLING?

One needs a specialist to guide you through to the best possible options for you. Career Counselors are the specialists, who guide you through in the process of.

- Understanding your strength and weaknesses.
- Identifying your interests.
- Informing you about various options.
- Guiding to achieve your goals.

Those who take parting career counseling sessions will first have to take an aptitude test to see which profession is right for them. They may be surprised to learn that their original career plan may not suit them at all. In fact, many who choose career counseling end up employed in a field that is the exact opposite of what they originally had in mind.

Teenagers who participate in career counseling classes and workshops benefit the most. Not only will they learn which careers they are most suited for, but they will also learn which jobs pay the most and even which companies to avoid. Through career counseling they will learn about trends in different industries as well as projected future trends. Students, who are happy with their suggested career choices, and the required courses for that career, tend to do better in high school and college. Because career counseling open doors to various possibilities which we thought were not possible or which we were not even aware of. A person good in Maths need not just do a Maths Honors or Statistics Honors rather can choose a lucrative career like Actuarial Science. A student having biology need not become a doctor but can pursue Biotechnology or related programs.

Career counselors critique resumes, suggest the best and most efficient methods of searching for employment, help strengthen negotiation skills, assist in getting better salary and promotion packages and generally steer you in the right direction.
